iii) Conferences and Roundtables Organized:

Over the last decade, I have also worked with Pugwash Canada and International Pugwash on many different steering committees to raise funds for conferences and roundtables. My volunteer teambuilding work has helped raise more than half a million dollars, just to hold conferences, which have been managed through Pugwash Canada's charitable foundation.

As a professor, I have hosted 64 distinguished guest speakers in widely-publicized open fora at the University of Western Ontario (45) and Carleton University (19) on a wide range of topical issues relating to international relations and Canadian foreign and defence policy.

Co-director and co-founder, The Canadian Forum for Global Security (CFGs) which undertook the following activities:

- 15 academics, NGO representatives and journalists attended the 4th CFGs workshop on "Delivering New Messages about Global Security", Toronto, October 26, 2006;
- 12 media representatives and CFGs members attended a workshop on media training, University of Western Ontario, March 30, 2006;
- 25 scholars, politicians and journalists attended the 3rd CFGs workshop, Ottawa, December 12, 2005;
- 12 scholars attended "The Canadian Forum for Global Security," Toronto, September 29, 2005.
