POLITICAL SCIENCE 3390F: “Political Leadership”
Course Outline

Instructor: Dr. Cristine de Clercy
Email: C.Declercy@uwo.ca

Office Hours (Fall): Mondays, 1:30-2 pm, and by appointment.

About This Course
This is a one-term seminar course taught at the third-year level. This class introduces students to the study of leadership. We spend much time learning about leaders who, for good or bad purposes, manage to mobilize the support of large organizations, whole communities or entire societies toward a specific goal. We are interested in what type of people become leaders, what sorts of resources they possess, why people follow leaders, why bad leadership happens, and how leaders manage their power.

We begin by studying some historical perspectives on political leadership authored by key thinkers. We then examine several different ways it has been conceptualized by modern analysts. We also look at some analyses of the led, or the followers, who are crucial to any leader’s success. The course’s approach is comparative, meaning most of our examples and cases are drawn from different levels of government and across several countries. Generally the emphasis is on leaders’ “agency.” Because leadership studies are located in many academic disciplines, we draw upon material from the field of political science as well as from sister fields, such as management sciences, psychology, and business studies.

Prerequisites: Political Science 1020E and at least 1.0 classes at the 2200 level or higher.

Antirequisites: Political Science 2212 E or 2205E.

“It is your responsibility to ensure that you have successfully completed all prerequisite courses, and that you have NOT taken an antirequisite course. A lack of a prerequisite course may not be used as the basis for an appeal. If you are found to be ineligible for a course, you may be removed from it at any time and you will receive no adjustment to your fees. This decision cannot be appealed. If you find that you do not have the requisites to take this course, it is in your best interest to drop the course well before the end of the add/drop period.”
General Expectations of Class Members

Students are expected to attend all classes, to do the readings each week before arriving to class, and to participate actively in class discussions and projects. Class members are encouraged to contribute their views during class discussions, and also to treat all other members with courtesy and respect.

Course Objectives:

This course aims to
i) introduce students to the broad canon of work on political leadership;
ii) ensure students understand the different conceptualizations and definitions of leadership, and followership;
iii) communicate several key questions and problem that undergird this field of inquiry;
iv) deepen and refine learners’ analytical and critical capacities;
v) further develop communications skills in verbal and written form.

Consultations and office hours

I welcome the opportunity to speak on a one-to-one basis with you about your assignments, your comprehension of the material, useful courses to take in the future or politics in general. Normally, the best occasion for these exchanges is during my office hours, or during a specific appointment.

Details of Grading Structure

Article Presentations and Critique

Worth: 15% in total
Due: As scheduled.
Miss penalty: Students who are not in class on the day they are to present receive a grade of zero, except in the case of documented extenuating circumstances where the penalty may be waived at the Professor’s discretion.
On one occasion, students will be responsible for introducing an article to the class. You will give a brief summary of the article, highlight its main points, discuss it with reference to other articles under discussion that day and in prior classes, evaluate its overall argumentation, and identify key weaknesses and omissions. Marks are awarded based on overall understanding of the article’s arguments, merits and weaknesses, context and value for studying leadership specifically and politics generally. In the case of books and longer readings, students may be asked to introduce parts of the work, depending on class size. We will set up this schedule shortly after classes begin.

In Class Participation

- Worth: 30%
- Due: Every class.
- Miss penalty: Students who are not in class and who do not submit documentary evidence of extenuating circumstances will not accumulate credit for participation on such days.

Every seminar day, students will sign a register of attendance. The instructor will take note of the quality and quantity of verbal contributions, and will award marks based on the intellectual content and evidence of learning contained within such remarks. The total grade will be calculated as the sum of marks obtained in all the sessions beyond the first introductory class.

Because this is a seminar course, class participation is mandatory. Zero class participation will result in a grade of “0” for each such session. Therefore, undocumented absences negatively will affect grades.

Research Paper

- Worth: 35% in total.
- Final due date: At the beginning of class on Monday December 4, 2017.
- Length: 14 pages minimum; 16 pages maximum (where a page equals 250 words).

- Late penalty: 5% per day (where a “day” equals 24 hours from the original due time of 11:30 am), to a maximum of ten days late, after which the essay will not be accepted for grading, (except perhaps in the case of documented extenuating circumstances.)
This is a major research paper. Further and specific instructions, expectations and requirements will be communicated in the Political Science 3390F Research Paper Assignment Sheet, as distributed and discussed in class. Students may submit the assignment earlier than the final due date.

Students will choose a topic from the list distributed in class, and in consultation with the Professor. As with all such essays, it is to be original, individual work that relies on high quality sources of information and informed analysis. This is not a group assignment.

Students are to submit one electronic copy to the TurnItIn portal on the class OWL site (see for more information http://elearningtoolkit.uwo.ca/terms/turnitin_originality_report.html, and one identical, printed copy to the instructor for grading and comments.

This “required paper may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com.” All acts of plagiarism are serious academic offences and will be dealt with as per UWO’s articulated sanctions. Your essay won’t be counted as submitted on time unless a copy is submitted both to Turnitin and in class at the start of class on the due date. Papers that are late will lose 5% of the assigned mark for each day the paper is late. Papers more ten days late will not be accepted for grading. Extensions may be granted only in the case of documented extenuating circumstances, at the Professor’s discretion.

The submission of late papers must be accomplished through the OWL site, as per the above instructions, as well as under the Professor’s office door (#4135, SSC) in the case of handing in the hard copy of the paper.

In-class Test

| Worth: | 20% |
| Date: | November 6, 2017 |
| Length: | 1 hour, in class. |

This is a closed book test of the course material to date. No electronic devices of any sort are allowed in the exam room. Note that “Computer-marked multiple-choice tests and/or exams may be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating.”
Required Readings and Reading Schedule

At the start of the term, the instructor will distribute in class the course “Reading Schedule,” which lists each week’s mandatory readings. The Schedule will indicate where students can retrieve the assigned readings beyond the mandatory course text. Some additional, suggested readings will be listed. The materials will be available on the web, JSTOR, OWL or at the DB Weldon Library. The instructor may change the readings occasionally. In this case, students will be informed a minimum of two weeks prior to any such change.

Additional Notes and Information

Students are expected to back up their written work and lecture/tutorial notes. Furthermore, students will be responsible for finding replacement lecture/tutorial notes where they fail to back-up their files.

The Professor claims material and image copyright. So, please ask for permission if you want to audio record or video record any part of the course.

The Professor will do her best to reply to queries during normal business hours (9 am-5 pm) within 72 hours (excluding weekends). Note university policy precludes the Professors from responding to email messages that were not sent from a Western email account. Also, please do not send email messages via OWL.

Note, also, that grades may not be discussed via email and that no assignments will be accepted via email.

Owing to large volumes of email, if you need an unusually quick response, drop by my office or call the office line-(519) 661-2111 ext 85163.

Prerequisite checking - the student’s responsibility
"Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites."

Essay course requirements
With the exception of 1000-level courses, most courses in the Department of Political Science are essay courses. Total written assignments (excluding examinations) will be at least 3,000 words in Politics 1020E, at least 5,000 words in a full course numbered 2000 or above, and at least 2,500 words in a half course numbered 2000 or above.

Use of Personal Response Systems ("Clickers")
"Personal Response Systems ("clickers") may be used in some classes. If clickers are to be used in a class, it is the responsibility of the student to ensure that the device is activated and functional. Students must see their instructor if they have any concerns about whether the clicker is malfunctioning. Students must use only their own clicker. If clicker records are used to compute a portion of the course grade:
• the use of somebody else’s clicker in class constitutes a scholastic offence,
• the possession of a clicker belonging to another student will be interpreted as an attempt to commit a scholastic offence."

Security and Confidentiality of Student Work (refer to current Western Academic Calendar (http://www.westerncalendar.uwo.ca/)
"Submitting or Returning Student Assignments, Tests and Exams - All student assignments, tests and exams will be handled in a secure and confidential manner. Particularly in this respect, leaving student work unattended in public areas for pickup is not permitted."

Duplication of work
Undergraduate students who submit similar assignments on closely related topics in two different courses must obtain the consent of both instructors prior to the submission of the assignment. If prior approval is not obtained, each instructor reserves the right not to accept the assignment.

Grade adjustments
In order to ensure that comparable standards are applied in political science courses, the Department may require instructors to adjust final marks to conform to Departmental guidelines.

Academic Offences
"Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site: http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf
Submission of Course Requirements

ESSAYS, ASSIGNMENTS, TAKE-HOME EXAMS MUST BE SUBMITTED ACCORDING TO PROCEDURES SPECIFIED BY YOUR INSTRUCTOR (I.E., IN CLASS, DURING OFFICE HOURS, TA'S OFFICE HOURS) OR UNDER THE INSTRUCTOR'S OFFICE DOOR.

THE MAIN OFFICE DOES NOT DATE-STAMP OR ACCEPT ANY OF THE ABOVE.

Attendance Regulations for Examinations

EXAMINATIONS/ATTENDANCE (Sen. Min. Feb.4/49, May 23/58, S.94, S.3538, S.3632, S.04-097) A student is entitled to be examined in courses in which registration is maintained, subject to the following limitations: 1) A student may be debarred from writing the final examination for failure to maintain satisfactory academic standing throughout the year. 2) Any student who, in the opinion of the instructor, is absent too frequently from class or laboratory periods in any course will be reported to the Dean of the Faculty offering the course (after due warning has been given). On the recommendation of the Department concerned, and with the permission of the Dean of that Faculty, the student will be debarred from taking the regular examination in the course. The Dean of the Faculty offering the course will communicate that decision to the Dean of the Faculty of registration.

University Policy on Cheating and Academic Misconduct

Plagiarism: Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea, or a passage from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offence." (see Scholastic Offence Policy in the Western Academic Calendar).

Plagiarism Checking: "All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (http://www.turnitin.com )."

Multiple-choice tests/exams: "Computer-marked multiple-choice tests and/or exams may be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating."

PLAGIARISM*

In writing scholarly papers, you must keep firmly in mind the need to avoid plagiarism. Plagiarism is the unacknowledged borrowing of another writer's words or ideas. Different forms of writing require different types of acknowledgement. The following rules pertain to the acknowledgements necessary in academic papers.

A. In using another writer's words, you must both place the words in quotation marks and acknowledge that the words are those of another writer.

You are plagiarizing if you use a sequence of words, a sentence or a paragraph taken from other writers without acknowledging them to be theirs. Acknowledgement is indicated either by (1) mentioning the author and work from which the words are borrowed in the text of your paper; or by (2) placing a footnote number at the end of the quotation in your text, and including a correspondingly numbered footnote at the bottom of the page (or in a separate reference section at the end of your essay). This footnote should indicate author, title of the work, place and date of publication, and page number.

Method (2) given above is usually preferable for academic essays because it provides the reader with more information about your sources and leaves your text uncluttered with parenthetical and tangential references. In either case words taken from another author must be enclosed in quotation marks or set off from your text by single spacing and indentation in such a way that they cannot be mistaken for your own words. Note that you cannot avoid indicating quotation simply by changing a word or phrase in a sentence or paragraph which is not your own.

B. In adopting other writers' ideas, you must acknowledge that they are theirs.

You are plagiarizing if you adopt, summarize, or paraphrase other writers' trains of argument, ideas or sequences of ideas without acknowledging their authorship according to the method of acknowledgement given in 'A' above. Since the words are your own, they need not be enclosed in quotation marks. Be certain, however, that the words you use are entirely your own; where you must use words or phrases from your source, these should be enclosed in quotation marks, as in 'A' above.

Clearly, it is possible for you to formulate arguments or ideas independently of another writer who has expounded the same ideas, and whom you have not read. Where you got your ideas is the important consideration here. Do not be afraid to present an argument or idea without acknowledgement to another writer, if you have arrived at it entirely independently. Acknowledge it if you have derived it from a source outside your own thinking on the subject.

In short, use of acknowledgements and, when necessary, quotation marks is necessary to distinguish clearly between what is yours and what is not. Since the rules have been explained to you, if you fail to make this distinction your instructor very likely will do so for you, and they will be forced to regard your omission as intentional literary theft. Plagiarism is a serious offence which may result in a student's receiving an 'F' in a course or, in extreme cases in their suspension from the University.
