Department of Political Science

POLITICAL SCIENCE 3348F: “FEDERALISM”
Course Outline, Fall term 2018

Classroom: #150, Physics and Astronomy Bldg.
Class time: Wednesdays 1:30-3:20 pm
Instructor: Dr. Cristine de Clercy E-mail: C.Declercy@uwo.ca
Office: SSC 4135, telephone 661-2111 ext 85163
Office Hours (Fall) : Mondays, 1:15-2:00 pm, and by appointment.

Course Description

This course presents a deep treatment of the subject of Canadian federalism, appropriate for a senior undergraduate seminar class. Students encounter the subject from a variety of perspectives, including constitutional, comparative, thematic and theoretical analysis. The first section of the course focuses on some enduring theoretical issues, while the latter part of the course includes more concrete material on interprovincial relations, multilevel governance and public policy.

Course Expectations, Attendance, and Conduct

All students are expected to attend all meetings, to do the readings each week and to participate actively in class discussions. You'll learn more when you prepare for each class, share views with your colleagues and are willing to learn from them. You are encouraged to contribute your views during class discussions, and also to treat all class members with courtesy and respect. You are expected to pay due attention, refrain from distracting the other students, and turn off all electronic devices during class time (of course, with the exception of those used for class, or any anticipated emergency or medical situation).

Class attendance is mandatory. Each meeting students will sign a register of attendance. Note that students who miss more than 50% of all the classes without documented, extenuated circumstances may be debarred from the final exam. The course instructor claims material and image copyright. Please consult The University of Western Ontario Code of Student Conduct (at <http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/board/code.pdf>) for more detailed rules and procedures governing all classes conducted at Western University.

An Important Notice About Course Requirements and Antirequisites

The University administration reminds you “It is your responsibility to ensure that you have successfully completed all prerequisite courses, and that you have NOT taken an antirequisite course. A lack of a prerequisite course may not be used as the basis for an appeal. If you are found to be ineligible for a course, you may be removed from it at any time and you will receive no adjustment to your fees [!!]. This decision cannot be appealed. If you find that you do not have the requisites to take this course, it is in your best interest to drop the course well before the end of the add/drop period.”

Consultation and Office hours

I welcome the opportunity to speak on a one-to one basis with you about your assignments, your comprehension of the material, useful courses to take in the future or politics in general. Normally, the best occasion for these exchanges is during my office hour, or during a specific appointment.

Required texts and readings:

- David E. Smith, Federalism and the Constitution of Canada, UTP 2010.
- Selected readings, located on OWL, or on reserve at the Weldon library.

Recommended reading:

- Hans Michelmann and Cristine de Clercy (eds.) Continuity and Change in Canadian Politics: Essays in Honour of David E. Smith. Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 2006 (at Weldon).

By the end of the course students will

- 1) have a deeper, critical ability to understand the theory of federalism;
- 2) have a more sophisticated understanding of the pragmatic constitutional and intergovernmental effects of federalism;
- 3) be more polished and practiced in terms of participating in class discussions and giving verbal analyses;
- 4) demonstrate and improved capacity to communicate clearly in written arguments.

Summary of Grades

Class participation	30%
One reading introduction	5%
One analytical essay	25%
In-class midterm test:	20%
Take-home final exam:	20%

Details of Grading Structure
In Class Participation

Worth:	30%
Due:	Every class.
Miss penalty:	Students who are not in class and who do not submit documentary evidence of extenuating circumstances will not accumulate credit for participation on such days.

Every meeting day, students will sign a register of attendance. An attended class is defined as one where the student is present at the beginning of the class through to its end. The instructor will take note of the quality and quantity of verbal contributions, and will award marks based on the intellectual content and evidence of learning contained within such remarks. The total grade will be calculated as the sum of marks obtained in all the sessions beyond the first introductory class. Zero class participation will result in a grade of "0" for each such session. Attendance is mandatory; undocumented absences negatively will affect grades.

Reading Introduction and Analysis

Worth:	5% in total
Length:	Up to 10 minutes of verbal commentary.
Due:	As scheduled, in the class.
Miss penalty:	Students who are not in class on the day they are set to present receive a grade of zero, except in the case of documented extenuating circumstances where the penalty may be waived at the Professor's discretion.

On one occasion each student will be responsible for introducing an article, or a section of a reading, to the class. We will set up a presentation schedule in the class early in the term. Each presenter will give a brief verbal summary of the article (10 minutes max), that highlights its main points, discusses it with reference to other articles under discussion that day and in prior classes, evaluates its overall argumentation, and identifies key weaknesses and omissions.

Analytical Essay

Worth:	25%
Length:	Eight to ten pages (minimum 2000 to maximum 2500 words) of analysis in essay form. The essay must be submitted to TurnItIn as well as via one paper copy for marking. Both submissions are due at the start of the class.
Due:	At the start of class on Wednesday, November 21, 2018.
Late penalty:	5% per day (where a day is defined as each 24 hour period beginning on the due date, at the start of class) , to a maximum of ten days late, after which the paper will not be accepted for grading.

August 23, 2018 Version

More information about this assignment will be handed out in the class, via an “Analytical Assignment Instruction Sheet.” Each student is to prepare and submit an analytical essay. Marks are awarded based on overall understanding of the subject, critical analysis of its merits and weaknesses, and broader reference to the theme(s) engaged with respect to the subject of federalism.

Students are to submit a hard copy for grading in class and one identical electronic copy to the TurnItIn portal on the class OWL site (see for more information <http://turnitin.uwo.ca/index.htm>). This “required paper may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com.”

All acts of plagiarism are serious academic offences and will be dealt with as per UWO’s articulated sanctions. Your analysis must be submitted on time both to Turnitin and to the Professor. Late hard copies can be slid under her office door, #4135, SSC.

In class Midterm Test

Worth:	20%
Date:	Wednesday November 7 2018.
Miss penalty	Students who do not write the test on November 7 2018 will accrue a mark of “0” for the test, except in the case of well documented extenuating circumstances, at the Professor’s discretion.

Take-home Final Exam

Worth:	20%
Date:	Due by 4 pm EST on Wednesday December 19, 2018 to the class OWL site upload link, as provided.
Length:	A minimum suggested length is 8 pages (2000 words of text). The maximum length is 15 pages of text (3750 words). After 3750 words, the remaining text will not be graded.
Late penalty:	Exams submitted late will not be accepted for grading, and so a grade of “0” will be recorded as the final exam grade, except in the case of well documented extenuating circumstances, at the Professor’s discretion.

This is an open book, take-home exam. The Pol 3348f “Final Exam Question Sheet” will be handed out in the last class of the term. More specific instructions for completing this exam will appear on the Pol 3348f “Final Exam Question Sheet.” The exam answer may be submitted to OWL, and can be submitted much earlier than the final deadline day.

The exam is to be submitted electronically via the class’s OWL TurnItIn site not later than the due time and date above, to be accepted for grading.

Computer difficulties or technological limitations are not acceptable grounds justifying late exam submissions. To be sure the exam answer is submitted without problem, plan to submit it well before the very last day.

The final exam essay is to be an original work that communicates your individual thoughts and insights in your own words. These are not group-authored projects. Students are not permitted to collaborate with any other person in the formulation of the answer. All acts of plagiarism are serious academic offences and will be dealt with as per UWO’s articulated sanctions. All material that is borrowed from other sources must be appropriately acknowledged through using quotations and/or proper reference citations. Be aware that The University of Western Ontario uses software for plagiarism checking. Your final essay exam may be reviewed via such software for the purpose of plagiarism checking.

Class Format, Class Schedule

Each class follows the Class Reading Schedule, provided at the first meeting. It is the responsibility of students to read the assigned material beforehand, prepare for class and contribute actively to class discussion.

Required Readings and Reading Schedule

At the start of the term, the instructor will distribute in class the term’s “Reading Schedule,” which lists each week’s mandatory readings. The Schedule will indicate where students can retrieve the assigned readings beyond the mandatory course text. Some additional, suggested readings will be listed. The materials will be available on the web, JSTOR or at the DB Weldon Library. The instructor may change the readings occasionally. In this case, students will be informed prior to any such change.

Additional Notes and Information

Students are expected to back up their written work and lecture/tutorial notes. Furthermore, students will be responsible for finding replacement lecture/tutorial notes where they fail to back-up their files.

The course instructor claims material and image copyright. So, please ask for permission if you want to audio record or video record any part of the course.

E-mail rules: The Professor will try to reply to email queries during normal business hours (9 am-5 pm) within 72 hours (excluding weekends). Do note that

August 23, 2018 Version

APPENDIX TO UNDERGRADUATE COURSE OUTLINES

Prerequisite checking - the student's responsibility

"Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites."

Essay course requirements

With the exception of 1000-level courses, most courses in the Department of Political Science are essay courses. Total written assignments (excluding examinations) will be at least 3,000 words in Politics 1020E, at least 5,000 words in a full course numbered 2000 or above, and at least 2,500 words in a half course numbered 2000 or above.

Use of Personal Response Systems ("Clickers")

"Personal Response Systems ("clickers") may be used in some classes. If clickers are to be used in a class, it is the responsibility of the student to ensure that the device is activated and functional. Students must see their instructor if they have any concerns about whether the clicker is malfunctioning.

Students must use only their own clicker. If clicker records are used to compute a portion of the course grade:

- the use of somebody else's clicker in class constitutes a scholastic offence,
- the possession of a clicker belonging to another student will be interpreted as an attempt to commit a scholastic offence."

Security and Confidentiality of Student Work (refer to current Western Academic Calendar (<http://www.westerncalendar.uwo.ca/>))

"Submitting or Returning Student Assignments, Tests and Exams - All student assignments, tests and exams will be handled in a secure and confidential manner. Particularly in this respect, leaving student work unattended in public areas for pickup is not permitted."

Duplication of work

Undergraduate students who submit similar assignments on closely related topics in two different courses must obtain the consent of both instructors prior to the submission of the assignment. If prior approval is not obtained, each instructor reserves the right not to accept the assignment.

Grade adjustments

In order to ensure that comparable standards are applied in political science courses, the Department may require instructors to adjust final marks to conform to Departmental guidelines.

Academic Offences

"Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site:

http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

Submission of Course Requirements

ESSAYS, ASSIGNMENTS, TAKE-HOME EXAMS MUST BE SUBMITTED ACCORDING TO PROCEDURES SPECIFIED BY YOUR INSTRUCTOR (I.E., IN CLASS, DURING OFFICE HOURS, TA'S OFFICE HOURS) OR UNDER THE INSTRUCTOR'S OFFICE DOOR.

THE MAIN OFFICE DOES NOT DATE-STAMP OR ACCEPT ANY OF THE ABOVE.

University Policy on Cheating and Academic Misconduct

Plagiarism: Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea, or a passage from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offence." (see Scholastic Offence Policy in the Western Academic Calendar).

Plagiarism Checking: "All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (<http://www.turnitin.com>)."

Multiple-choice tests/exams: "Computer-marked multiple-choice tests and/or exams may be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating."

Note: Information excerpted and quoted above are Senate regulations from the Handbook of Scholarship and Academic Policy. http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/academic_policies/index.html

PLAGIARISM*

In writing scholarly papers, you must keep firmly in mind the need to avoid plagiarism. Plagiarism is the unacknowledged borrowing of another writer's words or ideas. Different forms of writing require different types of acknowledgement. The following rules pertain to the acknowledgements necessary in academic papers.

A. In using another writer's words, you must both place the words in quotation marks and acknowledge that the words are those of another writer.

You are plagiarizing if you use a sequence of words, a sentence or a paragraph taken from other writers without acknowledging them to be theirs. Acknowledgement is indicated either by (1) mentioning the author and work from which the words are borrowed in the text of your paper; or by (2) placing a footnote number at the end of the quotation in your text, and including a correspondingly numbered footnote at the bottom of the page (or in a separate reference section at the end of your essay). This footnote should indicate author, title of the work, place and date of publication, and page number.

Method (2) given above is usually preferable for academic essays because it provides the reader with more information about your sources and leaves your text uncluttered with parenthetical and tangential references. In either case words taken from another author must be enclosed in quotation marks or set off from your text by single spacing and indentation in such a way that they cannot be mistaken for your own words. Note that you cannot avoid indicating quotation simply by changing a word or phrase in a sentence or paragraph which is not your own.

B. In adopting other writers' ideas, you must acknowledge that they are theirs.

You are plagiarizing if you adopt, summarize, or paraphrase other writers' trains of argument, ideas or sequences of ideas without acknowledging their authorship according to the method of acknowledgement given in 'A' above. Since the words are your own, they need not be enclosed in quotation marks. Be certain, however, that the words you use are entirely your own; where you must use words or phrases from your source, these should be enclosed in quotation marks, as in 'A' above.

Clearly, it is possible for you to formulate arguments or ideas independently of another writer who has expounded the same ideas, and whom you have not read. Where you got your ideas is the important consideration here. Do not be afraid to present an argument or idea without acknowledgement to another writer, if you have arrived at it entirely independently. Acknowledge it if you have derived it from a source outside your own thinking on the subject.

In short, use of acknowledgements and, when necessary, quotation marks is necessary to distinguish clearly between what is yours and what is not. Since the rules have been explained to you, if you fail to make this distinction your instructor very likely will do so for you, and they will be forced to regard your omission as intentional literary theft. Plagiarism is a serious offence which may result in a student's receiving an 'F' in a course or, in extreme cases in their suspension from the University.
