Course Description:  An examination of selected issues in Canadian politics. Each year the course will allow for inquiry into three or four issues of current interest, to be chosen by the instructor. In each area, the focus will be on understanding the status quo, and then analyzing proposals for change.
2 lecture hours, Half Course

Antirequisite:  Effective September 1, 2002: Politics 230 E. (Politics 2230E)

Note:  Note: STUDENTS REGISTERED IN THE HONORS SPECIALIZATION OR THE MAJOR IN POLITICAL SCIENCE MAY NOT REGISTER IN 2100 LEVEL POLITICAL SCIENCE COURSES Either As A Modular or An Elective Course

Important Notice Re: Prerequisites/Antirequisites
Please note the following from the UWO Academic Calendar, 2011- 2012 p 44.
"Students are responsible for ensuring that their selection of courses is appropriate and accurately recorded, that all course prerequisites have been successfully completed, and that they are aware of any antirequisite courses(s) that they have taken. If the student does not have the requisites for a course, and does not have the written special permission from his or her Dean to enroll in the course, the University reserves the right to cancel the student's registration in the course. This decision may not be appealed. The normal financial and academic penalties will apply to a student who is dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites."

Academic accommodation citing medical and compassionate grounds will be granted in accordance with the provisions of the Policy on Accommodation for Medical Illness- Undergraduate Students approved by the Senate of the University of Western Ontario effective September 1, 2008.

You are expected to read the course outline carefully and be familiar with the content.

Course Content 2011

The central theme of the course will be "Challenges to Representative Democracy" and “The Democratic Deficit”. In particular, the course will focus on challenges to two of the major constitutional principles defining the Canadian political system- representative democracy and parliamentary democracy. The lectures will document the evolution of these constitutional principles that have defined Canada's constitutional tradition. Five specific issues will be examined: 1) direct democracy: referenda, recall and constituent assemblies; 2) "prime ministerial government" ; 3) political leadership: selection and accountability 4) the representational role of Members of Parliament and the convention of party discipline; 5)electoral reform: replacing "the first past the post" electoral system with an electoral system based on the principle of proportional representation.

Evaluation:

- Two tests:
  - 1st Test - 35% (multiple choice)
  - Final exam - 65% (multiple choice)

Details regarding the content and structure of mid-term tests and the final exam will be announced at least two weeks prior to the date of the evaluation. The final exam will contain questions discussed throughout the entire course with more emphasis on the material covered after the first test.

1st Term Test: This test will be held on November 4 /2011 at 4:30 pm in Room 55 Western Science Centre. Students who are unable to write the test at the scheduled date and time may request a special test citing documented medical or compassionate grounds. The Special Test will be entirely essay format.

Final Exam: The exam will be scheduled during the final exam period in December 2011. The Special Final Exam will be entirely essay format.

Note: Both the mid-term test and the final exam will be based on material covered in the lectures and the assigned required readings. Required readings are designated (R), while Optional Readings are designated (O). In addition, there will be 5 current events questions included on each test to encourage students to focus on contemporary political events in Canada.

Note: Attendance in class will not be monitored or recorded. However, students are strongly encouraged to attend all lectures. Large classes present particular problems for both students and faculty. It is expected that students will conduct themselves courteously during lectures and will refrain from talking and or engaging in other activities that would be disruptive to students or to the instructor.

Note: A voluntary review session prior to the mid-term test and the final exam will be scheduled. The format is “question and answer” and will be related to the test/ exam material. There will be no new lecture material presented. Dates and times will be announced in class.

Release of Grades for November Test and Final Course Grades

Grades for the November term test will be available from the course instructor in the classroom for two lectures after the test. Students can request to review the grades assigned on the November test. Students should consult the course instructor to make arrangements to review the November test grades.

All final grades will be released by the Office of the Registrar. Students may review the grades assigned on final exams after final grades for the course are released by the Office of the Registrar.

Prerequisite checking - the student’s responsibility
"Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites."

Essay course requirements
With the exception of 1000-level courses, most courses in the Department of Political Science are essay courses. Total written assignments (excluding examinations) will be at least 3,000 words in Politics 1020E, at least 5,000 words in a full course numbered 2000 or above, and at least 2,500 words in a half course numbered 2000 or above.

Use of Personal Response Systems ("Clickers")
"Personal Response Systems ("clickers") may be used in some classes. If clickers are to be used in a class, it is the responsibility of the student to ensure that the device is activated and functional. Students must see their instructor if they have any concerns about whether the clicker is malfunctioning. Students must use only their own clicker. If clicker records are used to compute a portion of the course grade:
• the use of somebody else’s clicker in class constitutes a scholastic offence,
• the possession of a clicker belonging to another student will be interpreted as an attempt to commit a scholastic offence."

Security and Confidentiality of Student Work (refer to current Western Academic Calendar (http://www.westerncalendar.uwo.ca/)
"Submitting or Returning Student Assignments, Tests and Exams - All student assignments, tests and exams will be handled in a secure and confidential manner. Particularly in this respect, leaving student work unattended in public areas for pickup is not permitted."

Duplication of work
Undergraduate students who submit similar assignments on closely related topics in two different courses must obtain the consent of both instructors prior to the submission of the assignment. If prior approval is not obtained, each instructor reserves the right not to accept the assignment.

Grade adjustments
In order to ensure that comparable standards are applied in political science courses, the Department may require instructors to adjust final marks to conform to Departmental guidelines.

Academic Offences
"Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site: http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/appeals/scholoff.pdf."
Submission of Course Requirements

ESSAYS, ASSIGNMENTS, TAKE-HOME EXAMS MUST BE SUBMITTED ACCORDING TO PROCEDURES SPECIFIED BY YOUR INSTRUCTOR (I.E., IN CLASS, DURING OFFICE HOURS, TA’S OFFICE HOURS) OR UNDER THE INSTRUCTOR’S OFFICE DOOR.

THE MAIN OFFICE DOES NOT DATE-STAMP OR ACCEPT ANY OF THE ABOVE.

Note: Information excerpted and quoted above are Senate regulations from the Handbook of Scholarship and Academic Policy. http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/

Students registered in Social Science should refer to http://counselling.ssc.uwo.ca/ http://counselling.ssc.uwo.ca/procedures/havingproblems.asp for information on Medical Policy, Term Tests, Final Examinations, Late Assignments, Short Absences, Extended Absences, Documentation and other Academic Concerns. Non-Social Science students should refer to their home faculty’s academic counselling office.

Plagiarism

"Plagiarism: Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea, or a passage from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offence." (see Scholastic Offence Policy in the Western Academic Calendar).

Plagiarism Checking: "All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (http://www.turnitin.com )."

Multiple-choice tests/exams: "Computer-marked multiple-choice tests and/or exams may be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating."

Note: Information excerpted and quoted above are Senate regulations from the Handbook of Scholarship and Academic Policy. http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/

PLAGIARISM*

In writing scholarly papers, you must keep firmly in mind the need to avoid plagiarism. Plagiarism is the unacknowledged borrowing of another writer's words or ideas. Different forms of writing require different types of acknowledgement. The following rules pertain to the acknowledgements necessary in academic papers.
A. In using another writer's words, you must both place the words in quotation marks and acknowledge that the words are those of another writer.

You are plagiarizing if you use a sequence of words, a sentence or a paragraph taken from other writers without acknowledging them to be theirs. Acknowledgement is indicated either by (1) mentioning the author and work from which the words are borrowed in the text of your paper; or by (2) placing a footnote number at the end of the quotation in your text, and including a correspondingly numbered footnote at the bottom of the page (or in a separate reference section at the end of your essay). This footnote should indicate author, title of the work, place and date of publication, and page number.

Method (2) given above is usually preferable for academic essays because it provides the reader with more information about your sources and leaves your text uncluttered with parenthetical and tangential references. In either case words taken from another author must be enclosed in quotation marks or set off from your text by single spacing and indentation in such a way that they cannot be mistaken for your own words. Note that you cannot avoid indicating quotation simply by changing a word or phrase in a sentence or paragraph which is not your own.

B. In adopting other writers' ideas, you must acknowledge that they are theirs.

You are plagiarizing if you adopt, summarize, or paraphrase other writers' trains of argument, ideas or sequences of ideas without acknowledging their authorship according to the method of acknowledgement given in 'A' above. Since the words are your own, they need not be enclosed in quotation marks. Be certain, however, that the words you use are entirely your own; where you must use words or phrases from your source, these should be enclosed in quotation marks, as in 'A' above.

Clearly, it is possible for you to formulate arguments or ideas independently of another writer who has expounded the same ideas, and whom you have not read. Where you got your ideas is the important consideration here. Do not be afraid to present an argument or idea without acknowledgement to another writer, if you have arrived at it entirely independently. Acknowledge it if you have derived it from a source outside your own thinking on the subject.

In short, use of acknowledgements and, when necessary, quotation marks is necessary to distinguish clearly between what is yours and what is not. Since the rules have been explained to you, if you fail to make this distinction your instructor very likely will do so for you, and they will be forced to regard your omission as intentional literary theft. Plagiarism is a serious offence which may result in a student's receiving an 'F' in a course or, in extreme cases in their suspension from the University.
