Course Description: This course reviews the relationship between business and government emphasizing both the Canadian and global contexts. On the government side, the focus will be primarily on the federal government, while on the business side the focus will be primarily on large public companies (that is, those listed on the stock exchange). With this focus in mind, the course examines historical and contemporary issues in business-government relations as well as a variety of theories and concepts that are useful for understanding them.

Course Structure: The course meets weekly on Monday afternoons from 3:30-6:30 pm. It will consist of two hour lectures from 3:30-5:30 pm, and one hour tutorials from 5:30-6:30 pm.

Required Readings: A course package containing the readings for the first semester is available from the university bookstore. The second semester reading package will be available later this fall. Additional readings may be posted on the course website. Assigned reading should be done before the class in which it is to be discussed.

Tutorial Debates 10%

Each student will participate in one debate. Debates will take place from 5:30-6:30 pm during the tutorial period after the lecture. The sign-up list for debate topics will be posted on the instructor’s office door and students must sign-up for a topic no later than before class on 22 September. A list of debate topics and dates is available on the course website. When students sign-up for a debate topic they must choose either the affirmative or negative position. If some topics are under-subscribed, some students may be asked to choose other topics in order to ensure four persons per team. Each team must provide a 3 page, typed, point-form summary of their main arguments including a bibliography of no less than 10 sources. The debates will be graded on the basis of an overall team mark worth 10% of the course. A debate instruction sheet and grading guide is available on the course website. Students who miss their debates without prior arrangement with the course instructor will be given a grade of zero. Tutorial attendance is mandatory. Attendance will be taken at random with penalty marks being deducted from individual debate grades.

First Term Essay 25%
One first term research essay is due on 3 November and should be 10-12 typed double-spaced pages in length (3,000-4,000 words). Longer papers will not be accepted. The purpose of the essay is to identify the ideas and interests involved in the debate over a specific public policy issue and to argue in favour of one side or the other. In doing so, students will: identify the key ideas and arguments on each side of the debate and explain which theoretical approach they connect to (i.e. neoliberal or Keynesian-welfare); identify the specific interest groups that support each side of the debate; and, using detailed research, argue in favour of one side of the debate. A list of possible essay topics will be made available on the course website early in the term. Students must choose a topic from this list. The essays will be marked for research, argument, organization, and writing style and should conform to the format that will be discussed in detail in class. An essay grading guide is available on the course website. Bibliographies must have at least 10 sources which conform to the standards outlined in class. Essays are due at the beginning of class no later than 3:30 pm. Once the lecture begins, the paper is late. Late essays will receive a late penalty of 15%. Late essays are then due the following week at the start of class no later than 3:30 pm. After that, the essay will not be accepted and will receive a grade of zero. Extensions will only be granted for documented medical and other emergencies in accordance with university policy. All essays must also be submitted to turnitin.com through the course website.

First Term Exam 20%
The first term exam will cover material from the lectures and readings and will include both short and long-answer questions. It will be held on a date to be determined by the Registrar during the December exam period. No electronic devices will be allowed.

Op-Ed Writing Piece 20%
One op-ed writing piece is due on 9 March and it should be between 700-800 words in length. Students will write an op-ed on one of the debate topics other than the topic they did for their debate. Op-ed pieces will be marked for research, organization and writing style and should conform to the format that will be discussed in detail in class. An op-ed grading guide is available on the course website. Op-eds are due at the beginning of class no later than 3:30 pm. Once the lecture begins, the op-ed is late. Late op-eds will receive a late penalty of 15%. Late op-eds are then due the following week at the start of class no later than 3:30. After that, the op-ed will not be accepted and will receive a grade of zero. Extensions will only be granted for documented medical and other emergencies in accordance with university policy. All op-eds must also be submitted to turnitin.com through the course website as outlined in class.
Final Exam 25%
The final exam will cover material from the lectures and readings from the second term only and will include both short and long-answer questions. It will be held on a date to be determined by the Registrar during the April exam period. No electronic devices will be allowed.

Turnitin.com:
As noted above, essays and op-ed writing assignments must be submitted both in hard copy and electronically to the plagiarism checking website turnitin.com (available through the course website and under license to the University). Please be advised that: All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between the University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com.

APPENDIX TO UNDERGRADUATE COURSE OUTLINES
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

Prerequisite checking - the student’s responsibility
"Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites."

Essay course requirements
With the exception of 1000-level courses, most courses in the Department of Political Science are essay courses. Total written assignments (excluding examinations) will be at least 3,000 words in Politics 1020E, at least 5,000 words in a full course numbered 2000 or above, and at least 2,500 words in a half course numbered 2000 or above.

Use of Personal Response Systems (“Clickers”)
"Personal Response Systems ("clickers") may be used in some classes. If clickers are to be used in a class, it is the responsibility of the student to ensure that the device is activated and functional. Students must see their instructor if they have any concerns about whether the clicker is malfunctioning. Students must use only their own clicker. If clicker records are used to compute a portion of the course grade:
• the use of somebody else’s clicker in class constitutes a scholastic offence,
• the possession of a clicker belonging to another student will be interpreted as an attempt to commit a scholastic offence."

Security and Confidentiality of Student Work (refer to current Western Academic Calendar (http://www.westerncalendar.uwo.ca/)
"Submitting or Returning Student Assignments, Tests and Exams - All student assignments, tests and exams will be handled in a secure and confidential manner. Particularly in this respect, leaving student work unattended in public areas for pickup is not permitted."

Duplication of work
Undergraduate students who submit similar assignments on closely related topics in two different courses must obtain the consent of both instructors prior to the submission of the assignment. If prior approval is not obtained, each instructor reserves the right not to accept the assignment.

Grade adjustments
In order to ensure that comparable standards are applied in political science courses, the Department may require instructors to adjust final marks to conform to Departmental guidelines.

Academic Offences
"Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site: http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/appeals/scholoff.pdf."
Submission of Course Requirements

ESSAYS, ASSIGNMENTS, TAKE-HOME EXAMS MUST BE SUBMITTED ACCORDING TO PROCEDURES SPECIFIED BY YOUR INSTRUCTOR (I.E., IN CLASS, DURING OFFICE HOURS, TA’S OFFICE HOURS) OR UNDER THE INSTRUCTOR’S OFFICE DOOR.

THE MAIN OFFICE DOES NOT DATE-STAMP OR ACCEPT ANY OF THE ABOVE.

Note: Information excerpted and quoted above are Senate regulations from the Handbook of Scholarship and Academic Policy. http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/

Students registered in Social Science should refer to http://counselling.ssc.uwo.ca/ http://counselling.ssc.uwo.ca/procedures/havingproblems.asp for information on Medical Policy, Term Tests, Final Examinations, Late Assignments, Short Absences, Extended Absences, Documentation and other Academic Concerns. Non-Social Science students should refer to their home faculty’s academic counselling office.

Plagiarism

"Plagiarism: Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea, or a passage from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offence." (see Scholastic Offence Policy in the Western Academic Calendar).

Plagiarism Checking: "All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com ( http://www.turnitin.com )."

Multiple-choice tests/exams: "Computer-marked multiple-choice tests and/or exams may be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating."

Note: Information excerpted and quoted above are Senate regulations from the Handbook of Scholarship and Academic Policy. http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/

PLAGIARISM*

In writing scholarly papers, you must keep firmly in mind the need to avoid plagiarism. Plagiarism is the unacknowledged borrowing of another writer’s words or ideas. Different forms of writing require different types of acknowledgement. The following rules pertain to the acknowledgements necessary in academic papers.
A. In using another writer's words, you must both place the words in quotation marks and acknowledge that the words are those of another writer.

You are plagiarizing if you use a sequence of words, a sentence or a paragraph taken from other writers without acknowledging them to be theirs. Acknowledgement is indicated either by (1) mentioning the author and work from which the words are borrowed in the text of your paper; or by (2) placing a footnote number at the end of the quotation in your text, and including a correspondingly numbered footnote at the bottom of the page (or in a separate reference section at the end of your essay). This footnote should indicate author, title of the work, place and date of publication, and page number.

Method (2) given above is usually preferable for academic essays because it provides the reader with more information about your sources and leaves your text uncluttered with parenthetical and tangential references. In either case words taken from another author must be enclosed in quotation marks or set off from your text by single spacing and indentation in such a way that they cannot be mistaken for your own words. Note that you cannot avoid indicating quotation simply by changing a word or phrase in a sentence or paragraph which is not your own.

B. In adopting other writers' ideas, you must acknowledge that they are theirs.

You are plagiarizing if you adopt, summarize, or paraphrase other writers' trains of argument, ideas or sequences of ideas without acknowledging their authorship according to the method of acknowledgement given in 'A' above. Since the words are your own, they need not be enclosed in quotation marks. Be certain, however, that the words you use are entirely your own; where you must use words or phrases from your source, these should be enclosed in quotation marks, as in 'A' above.

Clearly, it is possible for you to formulate arguments or ideas independently of another writer who has expounded the same ideas, and whom you have not read. Where you got your ideas is the important consideration here. Do not be afraid to present an argument or idea without acknowledgement to another writer, if you have arrived at it entirely independently. Acknowledge it if you have derived it from a source outside your own thinking on the subject.

In short, use of acknowledgements and, when necessary, quotation marks is necessary to distinguish clearly between what is yours and what is not. Since the rules have been explained to you, if you fail to make this distinction your instructor very likely will do so for you, and they will be forced to regard your omission as intentional literary theft. Plagiarism is a serious offence which may result in a student's receiving an 'F' in a course or, in extreme cases in their suspension from the University.
