Course Description:

This course critically explores politics and popular culture through (and in) film, television, as well as digital and print media (advertisements, blogs etc.). As Canadian media theorist Marshall McLuhan once famously argued in the mid-20th century, the medium is the message: perception influences communication; likewise, communication influences what and how we perceive politics and its potentials (both positive and negative). With the increasing popularity of digital culture, television news shows and reality programming, as well as new social media and networks, it is apparent that various forms of political consciousness are taking shape in and around popular culture. Today, the roles of citizen and of consumer are blurred, and the main aim of this course will be to ask whether the convergence between entertainment and politics is a good or a bad thing: can popular cultural forms create new utopian visions that fuel political change, or conversely, do they only lead to manipulation of perceptions and practices of political and cultural control? Throughout the course, we will examine selected representations of capitalism, consumerism, orientalism, surveillance and security, techno-science, and transhumanism, as well as critically acquaint students with some major political theories such as realism, idealism, constructivism, feminism, neo-marxism and postmodernism.

Topics will include:

- the politics of celebrity humanitarianism and ‘decaf capitalism’
- the politics of fear and authority
- the politics of surveillance and (in)security
- the politics of cyberculture and social media
- the politics of money, consumption and desire
- the politics of techno-science and techno-culture
Course Objectives:

- Identify and recognize diverse political concepts, problems and theories in relation to popular culture
- Conceptualize political problems theoretically and apply theoretical interpretations to critically analyze current events
- Explore the complex interrelationships between political, social, cultural and historical forces

Course Materials:

Other Required Course Material: As indicated by the Weekly Reading Schedule below, other articles have been assigned to accompany your reading of the primary texts. All articles not found in the course textbooks are available on the course website.

Film Materials: Each week, you will be assigned one or more films/shows to view as an accompaniment to the required readings. Most of these materials are available on services such as Netflix. It is your responsibility to come to class having viewed the assigned materials.

Evaluation: Full instructions for each assignment are available in the ‘Appendices’ section of this course outline and will also be posted on the course website.

- Weekly Class Engagement on Twitter = 20% (each tweet string= 2% over 10 weeks); This is the course Twitter page: http://twitter.com/politipopcult

- Mid-term In-class Test on October 26, 2015: Short Answer format= 30% covering course materials from September 14 to October 19. See ‘Appendices’ for instructions and study questions.

- Final Take-Home Exam (short and long answer questions) = 50%; Will be distributed in class on November 30, 2015 and will be due on DECEMBER 7, 2015 by 5 PM. You must electronically submit your exam through the course website (please note that your exam will also be processed automatically through TURNITIN, a plagiarism software). No other method of submission will be accepted. This is not a collaborative assignment (you are not permitted to consult with anyone other than the course instructor) and Western University’s Academic Dishonesty policy will apply throughout the take-home exam period. No hard copy is required at this time. See ‘Appendices’ section of this course outline for format and instructions.

Course Website (OWL site): All the course administration, including required readings, announcements, and detailed explanation of assignments will be found on the course website. The website has not been developed to be a replacement for attending class.

Western Medical Accommodation Policy (Medical Notes): In May, 2008, The University of Western Ontario's Senate approved a medical note policy, which affects all students. Please follow the procedures as set out by the University which includes presenting your official documentation to your Academic Counseling office (not to me) after which an academic counsellor will make a recommendation to me regarding whether or not to grant an extension without penalty. For detailed information and forms, please visit https://studentservices.uwo.ca/secure/index.cfm, and for further policy information please visit http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/appeals/accommodation_medical.pdf Only in cases in which the student has presented appropriate documentation to their Academic Counseling Officer will any extensions without penalty be considered.

Accommodation for Special Needs: If you are a student with special needs, please visit Western’s Student Development Services (SDC)’s Learning Skills Services to access the resources available to you. LS counsellors are ready to help you improve your learning skills. They offer presentations on strategies for improving time management, multiple-choice exam preparation/writing, textbook reading, and more. Individual support is offered throughout the Fall/Winter terms in the drop-in Learning Help Centre, and year-round through individual counselling. SDC’s Learning Skills Services, Rm 4100 WSS, www.sdc.uwo.ca/learning If you are seeking academic accommodation, please see me as soon as possible, ideally at the beginning of the course (for pre-established conditions, accommodation will not be considered for those who wait till the end of classes to discuss their issues with me).

Plagiarism and Academic Dishonesty: “Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site: http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/appeals/choloff.pdf.” The University of Western Ontario uses software for plagiarism checking. Students may be required to submit their written work in electronic format for plagiarism checking. (UWO Senate 2002-03).”

Policies: To discuss these policies further, please feel free to meet with me.

- It is the student’s responsibility to ensure that his/her Tweets have been officially received (please ensure that you have an active Twitter account and that I know your your Twitter ID). Technical problems with Twitter cannot be used as a grounds for appeal.

- Make-up tests will only be considered with appropriate medical or other official documentation (first go to Academic Counselling to provide your documentation; they will contact me to make a recommendation).

- Assignment Deadlines: Please consider these deadlines ‘sacred’! Only in cases in which the student has presented appropriate documentation to their Academic Counseling Officer will any extensions without penalty be considered.

- You are free to use your lap-tops to take notes, but no digital taping (either voice or image) of the lectures is allowed.

- Problems with accessibility to the course website cannot be used as a basis for missing deadlines or appealing your grades. This means that if you are having problems accessing the course website, you must notify your instructor as soon as possible and you will be directed to a computer technician.
Weekly Reading Schedule: Subject to modification

* Available in ‘Resources’ folder of the course website

Unless indicated otherwise, all films/shows should be viewed prior to class.

APPENDICES: Details of the Assignments

1. Class Engagement through Twitter= 20%

Go to the class Twitter page: http://twitter.com/politipopcult

Sign up for a Twitter account or use your pre-existing Twitter ID (*remember to send me your Twitter name so I know it’s you!) Make sure that your privacy setting is ‘off’; otherwise I won’t be able to see your tweets.

The objective of this exercise is to encourage you to engage with the weekly class materials with your classmates, as well as improve your written communication skills.

You will be expected to produce a minimum of 1 SUBSTANTIAL tweet string per week (each tweet or tweet string per week will count for 2%). By ‘substantial’, I mean a tweet or string of tweets that directly respond(s) to the weekly question in a cogent and original way. I will provide you with the response question the week before IN CLASS (the question will also be posted on our class Twitter page). Tweet dates must correspond to class dates (i.e. to count, your tweet has to respond to the current week’s question and be posted that week). Please ensure that you have a Twitter account and that your privacy setting is OFF so that I can see your tweets. Also please send me your Twitter ID (your Twitter name) by email (nbiswasm[at]uwo.ca).

Tweeting will begin the week of September 21 (I will reveal the first question at the end of class) until the week of November 30, 2015. Evaluation of the QUALITY of your tweet(s) will follow the Class engagement grading guide:

- Outstanding (85%+)= Tweet(s) clearly show that you have clearly done all the readings; the Tweet engages with the class materials/concepts, offers original analysis and comments; and stimulates wider discussion and debate.

- Excellent (80-84%)= Tweets show that you have done most but not all the readings (you engage some but not all the class materials/concepts); the Tweet provides competent analysis of reading when prompted by others; thoughtful comments and questions for the most part.

- Good/Very Good (70-79%)= Tweets show that you are familiar with most readings, but not in an original way and you tend not to analyze them or to relate them to the course material; Tweet shows a basic grasp of key concepts and occasional ideas on the main theme of the reading; arguments are sporadic and at times incomplete or poorly supported.
Somewhat Poor (60-69%)= Tweet shows that actual knowledge of material is outweighed by improvised comments and remarks; remarks demonstrate misunderstandings of key concepts; seldom contributes effectively to discussion of the main theme; often digresses in unhelpful ways; sporadic.

Poor (50-59%)= Little or no apparent familiarity with assigned material; rarely participates; parrots text or comments of others.

Very Poor (below 50%)= No apparent familiarity with assigned material; never participates.

2. Mid-term In-class Test on October 26, 2015: Short Answer format= 30% covering course materials from September 14 to October 19.

Study Questions:

The test will be divided into 2 parts:

Part 1: Definitions (worth 20%) (choice)
This section evaluates your overall knowledge of the key terms covered in the course materials up till the test date (i.e. the textbook and lectures). Definitions of these terms can be found on the class lecture slides (on your course website). Provide as comprehensive a definition as you can. A good answer can range from 1-2 sentences to a paragraph for each definition. Out of a short list of definitions, you will be asked to CHOOSE 5 (Each definition will be worth UP TO 4%). During the class lectures, I will be identifying which term and definitions will appear on the test, so attend lectures! E.g. ideology, culture industry, orientalism, decaf capitalism etc.

Part 2: Identify the Political Ideology (worth 10%) (no choices)
This section evaluates your basic comprehension of the political ideologies discussed in the course materials (drawn from the reading from Douglas Van Belle, p. 19-27). You will be given a short clue and you will have to identity which political ideology corresponds to the clue. E.g. Which political ideology believes in strong military rule headed by a charismatic dictator? Answer? Fascism

3. Take-Home Exam= 50%; Long Answer/Essay format

Objectives: You will be evaluated on your ability to accurately identify and persuasively discuss the main concepts in this course in relation to the materials and interpretations covered in the class lectures, and assigned course materials (especially the two required textbooks, Welcome to the Machine, and Neuropath).

In your answers, the more you can coherently and consistently draw from the course materials and make persuasive arguments using concepts and interpretations critically and accurately, the more you demonstrate your level of mastery of the course materials. In addition to course content, your answers will also be assessed technically for effective organization and selection of information, authorial credibility (e.g. no spelling or grammatical errors), and presentation/communication of ideas.

Deadline: You will receive your take-home exam question sheet at the end of lecture class on November 30, 2015 (you must show valid student ID in order to get your exam). Your exam is due no later than December 7, 2015 by 5 PM. You must electronically submit your exam through the course website. No other method of submission will be accepted. This is not a collaborative assignment (you are not permitted to consult with anyone other than the course instructor) and Western University’s Academic Dishonesty policy will apply throughout the take-home exam period. No hard copy is required at this time.

Format: Please provide a typed document, 12-point font; 1 inch margins all around; paginated; double spaced copy with your name and student number. Submissions must be between 4-6 pages (in total, all inclusive). All submissions must include a bibliography section (Lecture notes should be cited as: Biswas Mellamphy, Nandita. “Title of Lecture”, Politics and Pop Culture, Western University, Date of Lecture). Please use Chicago Style for citations: http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide.html

Submission Instructions: All take-home exams must be submitted electronically through the OWL course website (TURNITIN is built into the OWL system, so you do not need to do anything other than electronically submit the paper through the course website). Go to the course website and click on the ‘Assignments’ link in Menubar (left side of screen). Go to the ‘take-home exam’ link to upload your electronic copy. Please SUBMIT EITHER AS A WORD OR PDF DOCUMENT ONLY (OWL DOES NOT ACCEPT PAGES OR ANY OTHER FORMAT).

The link will open as of December 7, 2015 at 6 AM and will close at 5:01 PM on December 7, 2015; before this, you will not see the link).
APPENDIX TO UNDERGRADUATE COURSE OUTLINES
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

Prerequisite checking - the student’s responsibility
"Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites."

Essay course requirements
With the exception of 1000-level courses, most courses in the Department of Political Science are essay courses. Total written assignments (excluding examinations) will be at least 3,000 words in Politics 1020E, at least 5,000 words in a full course numbered 2000 or above, and at least 2,500 words in a half course numbered 2000 or above.

Use of Personal Response Systems ("Clickers")
"Personal Response Systems ("clickers") may be used in some classes. If clickers are to be used in a class, it is the responsibility of the student to ensure that the device is activated and functional. Students must see their instructor if they have any concerns about whether the clicker is malfunctioning. Students must use only their own clicker. If clicker records are used to compute a portion of the course grade:
• the use of somebody else’s clicker in class constitutes a scholastic offence,
• the possession of a clicker belonging to another student will be interpreted as an attempt to commit a scholastic offence."

Security and Confidentiality of Student Work (refer to current Western Academic Calendar [http://www.westerncalendar.uwo.ca/])
"Submitting or Returning Student Assignments, Tests and Exams - All student assignments, tests and exams will be handled in a secure and confidential manner. Particularly in this respect, leaving student work unattended in public areas for pickup is not permitted."

Duplication of work
Undergraduate students who submit similar assignments on closely related topics in two different courses must obtain the consent of both instructors prior to the submission of the assignment. If prior approval is not obtained, each instructor reserves the right not to accept the assignment.

Grade adjustments
In order to ensure that comparable standards are applied in political science courses, the Department may require instructors to adjust final marks to conform to Departmental guidelines.

Academic Offences
"Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site: [http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf]
Submission of Course Requirements

ESSAYS, ASSIGNMENTS, TAKE-HOME EXAMS MUST BE SUBMITTED ACCORDING TO PROCEDURES SPECIFIED BY YOUR INSTRUCTOR (I.E., IN CLASS, DURING OFFICE HOURS, TA'S OFFICE HOURS) OR UNDER THE INSTRUCTOR'S OFFICE DOOR.

THE MAIN OFFICE DOES NOT DATE-STAMP OR ACCEPT ANY OF THE ABOVE.

Attendance Regulations for Examinations

EXAMINATIONS/ATTENDANCE (Sen. Min. Feb.4/49, May 23/58, S.94, S.3538, S.3632, S.04-097) A student is entitled to be examined in courses in which registration is maintained, subject to the following limitations: 1) A student may be debarred from writing the final examination for failure to maintain satisfactory academic standing throughout the year. 2) Any student who, in the opinion of the instructor, is absent too frequently from class or laboratory periods in any course will be reported to the Dean of the Faculty offering the course (after due warning has been given). On the recommendation of the Department concerned, and with the permission of the Dean of that Faculty, the student will be debarred from taking the regular examination in the course. The Dean of the Faculty offering the course will communicate that decision to the Dean of the Faculty of registration.

Medical Policy, Late Assignments, etc.

Students registered in Social Science should refer to http://counselling.ssc.uwo.ca/procedures/having_problems/index.html for information on Medical Policy, Term Tests, Final Examinations, Late Assignments, Short Absences, Extended Absences, Documentation and other Academic Concerns. Non-Social Science students should refer to their home faculty’s academic counselling office.

University Policy on Cheating and Academic Misconduct

Plagiarism: Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea, or a passage from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offence." (see Scholastic Offence Policy in the Western Academic Calendar).

Plagiarism Checking: "All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (http://www.turnitin.com )."

Multiple-choice tests/exams: "Computer-marked multiple-choice tests and/or exams may be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating."

Note: Information excerpted and quoted above are Senate regulations from the Handbook of Scholarship and Academic Policy. http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/academic_policies/index.html
In writing scholarly papers, you must keep firmly in mind the need to avoid plagiarism. Plagiarism is the unacknowledged borrowing of another writer's words or ideas. Different forms of writing require different types of acknowledgement. The following rules pertain to the acknowledgements necessary in academic papers.

A. In using another writer's words, you must both place the words in quotation marks and acknowledge that the words are those of another writer.

You are plagiarizing if you use a sequence of words, a sentence or a paragraph taken from other writers without acknowledging them to be theirs. Acknowledgement is indicated either by (1) mentioning the author and work from which the words are borrowed in the text of your paper; or by (2) placing a footnote number at the end of the quotation in your text, and including a correspondingly numbered footnote at the bottom of the page (or in a separate reference section at the end of your essay). This footnote should indicate author, title of the work, place and date of publication, and page number.

Method (2) given above is usually preferable for academic essays because it provides the reader with more information about your sources and leaves your text uncluttered with parenthetical and tangential references. In either case words taken from another author must be enclosed in quotation marks or set off from your text by single spacing and indentation in such a way that they cannot be mistaken for your own words. Note that you cannot avoid indicating quotation simply by changing a word or phrase in a sentence or paragraph which is not your own.

B. In adopting other writers' ideas, you must acknowledge that they are theirs.

You are plagiarizing if you adopt, summarize, or paraphrase other writers' trains of argument, ideas or sequences of ideas without acknowledging their authorship according to the method of acknowledgement given in 'A' above. Since the words are your own, they need not be enclosed in quotation marks. Be certain, however, that the words you use are entirely your own; where you must use words or phrases from your source, these should be enclosed in quotation marks, as in 'A' above.

Clearly, it is possible for you to formulate arguments or ideas independently of another writer who has expounded the same ideas, and whom you have not read. Where you got your ideas is the important consideration here. Do not be afraid to present an argument or idea without acknowledgement to another writer, if you have arrived at it entirely independently. Acknowledge it if you have derived it from a source outside your own thinking on the subject.

In short, use of acknowledgements and, when necessary, quotation marks is necessary to distinguish clearly between what is yours and what is not. Since the rules have been explained to you, if you fail to make this distinction your instructor very likely will do so for you, and they will be forced to regard your omission as intentional literary theft. Plagiarism is a serious offence which may result in a student's receiving an 'F' in a course or, in extreme cases in their suspension from the University.
